

Language One Transcript

I guess the times still annoys me is when you get completely identified by your disability. You know that you're "see that blind guy over there?" or you know "bring it over to that guy in the wheelchair" you know instead of somebody trying to think of you as a person, think of you as Michael.